Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery, 1915 At that time only one end of the silk ligatures was cut short, the other hanging out of one corner of the flap, chiefly, they said, for drainage. During my student days it was rare to have an amputation of the thigh live until the ligature came away on the 14th day, the patient usually died of shock or pyemia the first week; I do not think I ever saw an amputation of the thigh high up recover. Surgical operations then consisted chiefly of removal of external tumors, amputations for injury or disease, cutting for stone and opening abscesses. The abdomen was a mare clausum, and if by accident the peritoneal cavity was opened the fate of that patient was sealed and the church was his only salvation. Still the. surgeons of that day were most skilled operators as they had learned their business in pre-anesthetic times, and it was a common thing to see an amputation of the leg or thigh done in sixty seconds and a complete lateral lithotomy under two minutes. I remember Sir William Ferguson of King s College Hospital, London, operating in a dress suit with much expanse of shirt front and cuffs and being so clean an operator that he prided himself on never getting a drop of blood on his white shirt. Most operators used an old frock coat which was never cleaned and so was soaked in the gore of many victims. Some washed their hands, others did not, the field of operation was rarely cleansed except the wound caused by injury was full of dirt. All compound fractures...
