These proportions per 1,000 are obtained by reading along the horizontal lines. Table I answers the question, What proportions of men of different classes of weight, as for instance 145-149 pounds, fall into each of the different classes of stature? The answer is given again by reading along the horizontal lines. It must be remembered in applying these tables that the frequencies in the extreme classes fail to give a good picture of the distribution of weights and statures in that part of the population. This is because there was a selection against men of under 63 inches, and this selection was especially marked in the case of men under 60 inches tall. A few short men were taken, provided they had an exceptionally fine physique, were especially robust, and had a relatively high weight. Consequently we...
